Seven Days was a science fiction television series based around the premise of time travel.

The plot follows a secret branch of the United States' National Security Agency who have developed a time travelling device based upon alien technology found at Roswell.

The pilot of the Chronosphere was Lt. Frank Parker, an ex-military, ex-CIA operative played by Jonathan LaPaglia.

The model is best printed on cover or card stock. The page format is A4, however US modelers should print it out on legal sized cover or card stock.

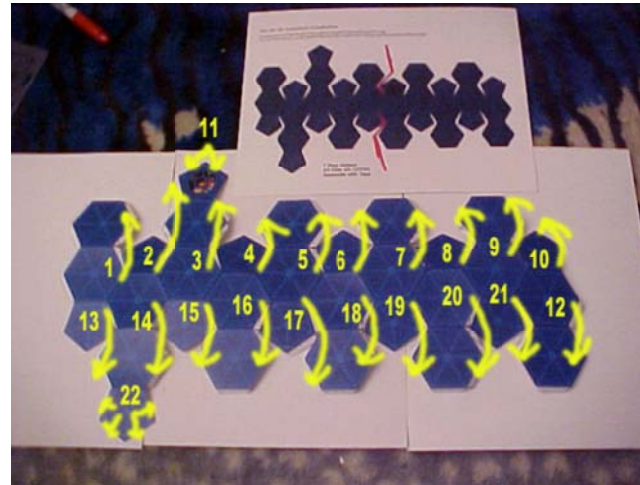

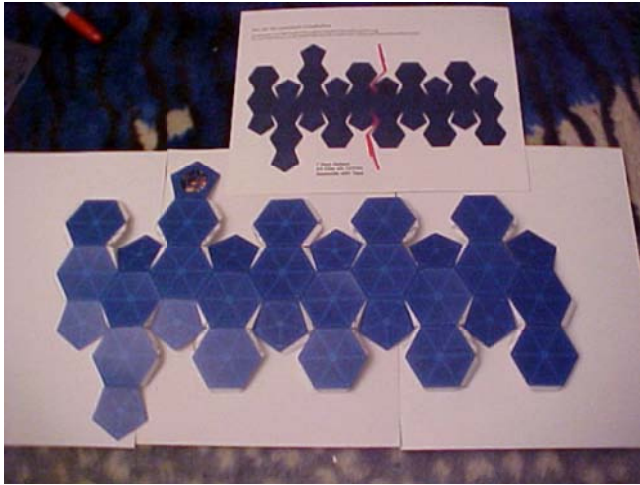

It can be printed onto regular weight paper.

The sphere is very simple to make.

Carefully, cut out the parts.
Glue the two large sections as shown.
Glue the individual sections
Use the steps to fold and glue the shape into a sphere.

The stand uses similar techniques.
